

Bird's Nest

4-6 players.

Deck consists of 36 cards. (6 colors x 3)+ (6 of two different colors x 3)

In the game of "bird's nest," players aim to collect a hand of six cards of the same color. Here are the rules:

(1) Each player selects one card from their hand and places it face down on the table. When everyone has played a card, they are all revealed at the same time. The number and color of the cards played determine the lead player for that turn.

(2) [Normal] If any of the colors played are missing, the player who played the card with the highest number is the lead player. [Color Full] If all six colors are present, the player who played the smallest card is the lead player.

(3) Starting with the lead player for the turn, each player chooses one card from the cards played, excluding their own. Once everyone has made their choice, the chosen cards are placed face down in front of the players. These face-down cards cannot be used as part of the hand for one turn.

(4) Each player then selects a card from their remaining five cards, excluding any face-down cards, and the process repeats from step (1). When a player has two face-down cards, they return the first one to their hand.

(5) The game continues with steps (1) to (4) until a player meets the victory condition.

To win, a player must have a hand of six cards of the same color. When the victory condition is met, the player must declare "bird's nest" and reveal their completed hand.
